About the Prosecutors and Politics Project

The Prosecutors and Politics Project is a nonpartisan research initiative at the University of North Carolina School of Law. Founded in 2018, the Project studies the role of prosecutors in the criminal justice system, focusing on both the political aspects of their selection and their political power. The Project endeavors to bring scholarly attention to the democratic accountability of elected prosecutors, to increase our understanding of the relationship between prosecutors and politics through empirical study, and to publicly share research in order to increase voters' knowledge about their elected prosecutors and broader criminal justice issues.

Executive Summary

This report provides information from a nationwide study of prosecutor elections during the years 2020 to 2024. The study found a decrease in the number of contested elections as compared to other recent election cycles.

This report builds on two previous reports, which provided election information from years 2014 to 2017¹ (report published in February 2020) and years 2018 to 2019 (report published in December 2024). Combined, ten years of data² show only a quarter of the nation's prosecutor elections have presented voters with a choice between candidates, and the chances of a contested election increase when population increases and when an incumbent decides not to seek reelection.

Prosecutor Elections in years 2020 through 2024³

There were 3,231 regular prosecutor elections between 2020-2024, 23% (745) of which were contested.⁴ Prosecutor elections were least likely to be contested in small population jurisdictions and in jurisdictions where the incumbent decided to run for reelection. This is consistent with data from prior

² This includes 2,340 jurisdictions, 6,782 regular elections, 133 known special elections, 16 appointments as a matter of local law, and 5,879 unique candidates.

years.⁵ Open seat elections—that is, elections in which no incumbent runs—are contested at a higher rate, as are elections in jurisdictions with larger populations. In part because they rarely face challengers, incumbents are elected at a very high rate. Only 8% of incumbents who ran for reelection lost their race.⁶

Although the 2020-2024 elections follow previous years’ pattern regarding the effect of population and the presence of an incumbent, the data from these most recent elections differ from previous years in an important respect. Fewer elections in the years 2020 to 2024 were contested than in previous years. There were fewer contested elections in most, but not all, population categories.

Over the past ten years, there has been a consistent, downward trend in contested elections in the least populated jurisdictions. Contested elections in the largest jurisdictions increased significantly from our first round of data to our second. In the latest round of data, the rate of contested elections in those jurisdictions has decreased, though it remains above the level we observed in elections held in years 2014 to 2017.

When open seat elections are considered separately from elections in which an incumbent runs, we see that much of the decline in contested elections comes from open seat elections. In previous years, when incumbents in large population jurisdictions did not run for reelection, multiple candidates were likely to seek to replace them. For example, during the years 2014 to 2019, every open seat election in jurisdictions with more than one million people was contested. For the years 2020 to 2024, two out of eighteen of those elections had only a single candidate run.⁷

⁷ The two uncontested elections occurred in Florida’s District 5 and District 18. District 5 includes the cities of Clermont and Ocala and the Homosassa Springs, Spring Hill, and The Villages communities. District 18 includes the cities of Sanford and Palm Bay.

Ten Years of Prosecutor Elections

During the years 2014 to 2024, only a quarter of prosecutor elections were contested in the United States. Overall, the rate of contested elections varied by population and the presence or absence of an incumbent.

Analyzing ten years of data not only allows us to observe national trends over time, it also allows us to see which districts consistently held contested elections, and which districts consistently held uncontested elections. Our ten years of data typically include three or more election cycles for every district. However, due to term lengths and the timing of elections, our dataset includes only two election cycles for some districts.⁸ Of the 128 districts in which elections were always contested, 22% (28) of districts had only two election cycles within the ten-year period.

Districts that consistently hold contested elections are vastly outnumbered by districts that consistently hold uncontested elections. Less than six percent of all districts (128 out of 2,340) in the nation consistently held contested prosecutor elections over the past ten years.⁹ In contrast, there were 1,088 districts in which all elections held between 2014 and 2024 were never contested. These “never contested” districts represent nearly half (47%) of all districts in the country.

⁸ Due to the irregular pattern of special elections, special elections may not be reflected in the data, specifically, in the reporting of contested and uncontested elections in jurisdictions between 2014-2019. See About the Study for more information about the inclusion of special elections in this analysis.

⁹ See Appendix II.

Whether a district consistently holds contested or uncontested elections is closely correlated with population. Close to half (43%) of all districts with populations over one million people always held contested elections between 2014-2024. Only three percent of districts with populations under 100,000 consistently held contested elections during that same period. Instead, as Table 5 demonstrates, more than half of those small-population districts did not have a contested election for an entire decade.

Table 5: “Always Contested” and “Never Contested” Elections by Population 2014-2024¹⁰

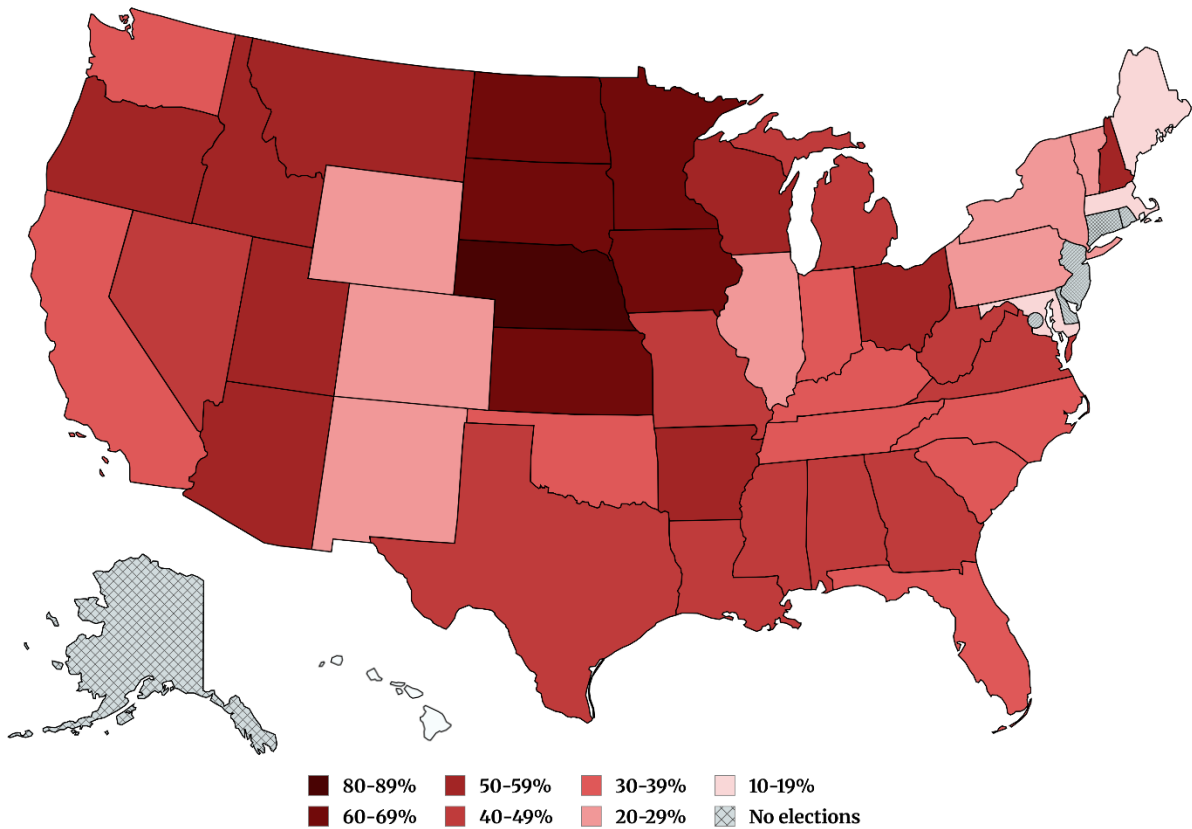

Population	Always Contested Districts % (#)	Never Contested Districts % (#)

< 100K	3% (50)	53% (914)
100K-249K	7% (23)	36% (121)
250K – 1M	15% (31)	24% (50)
> 1M	43% (24)	5% (3) ¹¹

¹⁰ Two recently created jurisdiction, Colorado District 23 and Mississippi District 23, are not included as always contested jurisdictions in this analysis.

¹¹ The three never contested districts with populations over one million were Florida’s District 5, District 6, and District 18. See note 7, supra. District 6 includes the cities of Clearwater and St. Petersburg.

Every state, except Hawaii, has multiple districts that did not hold a contested election in the years 2014 to 2024.¹² Indeed, in fifteen states¹³ at least half of all districts never had a contested election between 2014-2024. The highest rates of never contested elections occurred in Nebraska (70%), South Dakota (67%), North Dakota (66%), and Kansas (66%).

Overall, rates of never contested elections are highest in the northern great plains and the western Rockies.

¹³ Nebraska, North Dakota, Kansas, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Montana, Idaho, Wisconsin, Oregon, Arkansas, Arizona, Ohio, Utah, and New Hampshire.

Because contested elections become more likely as population levels increase, these geographic patterns are explained, at least in part, by how many small-population districts are present within a state. Some states aggregate small-population counties into larger prosecutorial districts, rather than electing a prosecutor for each county.¹⁴ Given the positive correlation between contested elections and population, we see lower rates of “never contested” elections in those states that elect prosecutors in districts comprised of multiple counties than in states that elect their prosecutors in single-county districts.

Single-county districted states had an average of 47% of districts in which elections were never contested, as compared to 35% of districts in multi-county districted states. Of the fifteen states in which more than fifty percent of districts never held a contested election during the years 2014-2024, 93% (14 out of 15) states were organized as single-county districts.¹⁵ The rates of “always contested” elections were much lower. Single-county districted states had an average “always contested” rate of 5% while multi-county districted states had an average “always contested” rate of 9%.

For a complete breakdown of multi-county versus single-county districts, see Table 1 in Carissa Byrne Hessick & Michael Morse, Picking Prosecutors, 105 IOWA L. REV. 1537 (2020). Our characterization of single-county and multi-county states differs slightly from Hessick & Morse in that we classify Indiana as a single-county state. Indiana contains ninety-one districts comprised of single counties and only a single district, District 7, which is comprised of two counties. (We classify Texas as neither a single-county nor multiple-county state as it organizes its prosecutorial jurisdictions using large numbers of both single-county and multiple-county districts.)

¹⁵ Of the thirty states in which fewer than half of their district never held a contested election, 50% (15 out of 30) were single-county districts and 47% (14 out of 30) were multi-county districts. Texas jurisdictions, which include both single-county and multiple-county districts, had a never contested rate of 45%.

About the Study

This report presents election results for each election in the forty-five states that held local prosecutor elections in 2020 through 2024.

The dataset includes the name, party affiliation, and incumbency status of each candidate who ran for local prosecutor. The dataset also identifies which candidate won the election and the percentage of total votes each candidate received. These variables allow us to determine whether each district had an open seat, whether the district held a contested election, and whether the election resulted in the unseating of an incumbent.

We compiled our election results data from public sources. The decentralized nature of prosecutor elections made it difficult and time consuming to collect this data. When available, election data was obtained from official election records. When those official records were not available or when they did not include the relevant information, data was obtained from websites or media accounts. When those additional sources did not contain the relevant data, we endeavored to obtain the information by emailing or calling county officials. But we could not obtain all variables for every election.¹⁶

When a candidate running for election won the preceding election, we labeled that candidate as the incumbent and any other candidates in the same election as challengers. In elections without a clear incumbent, we researched the candidates to determine whether one had assumed office via an appointment. An appointee with temporary, interim, or acting legal status was labeled an open seat candidate. An appointee who possessed the same status as an elected prosecutor was labeled an incumbent.

Each candidate's vote share, or vote percentage, was calculated using the total votes received by a candidate as the numerator and the total votes cast in the prosecutor race as the denominator, excluding overvotes or undervotes. Jurisdictions vary in the reporting of write-in votes, but where they were reported, write-in votes were included in the denominator. Write-in candidates were only included in our data if they won their election.

¹⁶ State reports indicate when we were unable to collect a variable.

An election falling outside the regular pattern of elections based on term length was labeled a special election in our study. Thus, our use of this term often differs from its use throughout state law. Due to the irregular pattern of special elections, all special elections may not be captured in our data. For this reason, the analysis provided in Tables 1-5 and in Figure 1 of the executive summary do not include special elections. That analysis also does not include jurisdictions in which prosecutors are appointed as a matter of local law or where a candidate's incumbency status is unknown.

A summary of our dataset is publicly available on the UNC Dataverse.¹⁷

¹⁷ Our full dataset including the years 2020-2024 is available at <https://doi.org/10.15139/S3/U3U9Y3>. Election datasets for the years 2014-2017 and 2018-2019 are available at <https://doi.org/10.15139/S3/ILI4LC> and <https://dataverse.unc.edu/dataset.xhtml?persistentId=doi:10.15139/S3/I86FHB>, respectively.

State Reports

The following state reports contain two sections. The first section gives a brief overview of how each state organizes its local prosecutor elections. It also highlights important election information for both the most recent election cycle(s)¹⁸ and for all elections in the years 2014 to 2024, including the rate of contested elections.

The second section reports detailed election information for each prosecutor election in the state between the years 2020 and 2024. For every regularly scheduled election and for those special elections we were able to locate, the section provides the name and population of the county or district,¹⁹ the name of each candidate who ran in the election, the candidates' party affiliation, the status of each candidate as the incumbent, challenger to the incumbent, or an open seat candidate, and the total vote percentage for the primary election in the third column and the general election in the fourth column. A zero-vote percentage could indicate that a candidate did not appear in the election, for example, an independent candidate not appearing in a partisan primary or a candidate who lost in the primary not appearing in the general election. It may also indicate that local or state law did not require an election to be held because it was uncontested. The candidate who won each election is designated with boldface type.

For party affiliation we used the following abbreviations:

R = Republican (highlighted in pink)

D = Democrat (highlighted in light blue)

I = Independent (highlighted in yellow)

NP = Nonpartisan election (highlighted in gray)

U = Unknown (highlighted in gray)

O = Other (highlighted in yellow)

¹⁸ Most states include data from a single election cycle having occurred between 2020 and 2024. However, data from two election cycles are included for states that held elections in both 2020 and 2024. Data from three election cycles are included for the state of New Hampshire, which holds elections every two years.

¹⁹ Population figures are based on 2020 Census data.

This section also includes some limited information about past elections. Counties or districts in boldface type indicate that the jurisdiction was “always contested” between 2014 through 2024. Counties or districts in italic typeface indicate that the jurisdiction was “never contested” between 2014 through 2024.

-Alabama-

Alabama elects one district attorney per judicial circuit in partisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve six-year terms. Judicial circuits are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to five counties. There are forty-two districts including the Birmingham and Bessemer divisions of Jefferson County. District boundaries remained the same between 2014 and 2024.

A candidate does not appear on the ballot in a partisan primary election if the primary election is uncontested. Such candidate advances directly to the general election.

2014-

The overall rate of contested elections was 34% (29 out of 85).

Regular elections occurred in 2016 and 2022.

Seven judicial circuits always held contested elections, and twenty circuits never held a contested election. The twenty “never contested” circuits had a total population of 2,094,622, representing 42% of Alabama’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 33% (14 out of 42).

Out of the fifty-nine candidates running for district attorney, twenty-six were incumbents and only seven of those incumbents faced challengers.

– Arkansas –

Arkansas elects one prosecuting attorney per district in nonpartisan elections. Once elected, prosecuting attorneys serve four-year terms. Districts are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to six counties. There are twenty-eight districts. District boundaries remained the same between 2014 and 2024.

Because Arkansas holds nonpartisan elections, general elections occur without preceding primary elections. If a general election is uncontested, no candidate appears on the ballot. If no candidate in a contested general election receives a majority of the votes cast, a runoff election takes place. In the election results, below, the third column contains the results of general elections and the fourth column contains the results of runoff elections.

The overall rate of contested elections was 18% (15 out of 85).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

No districts always held contested elections, and fifteen districts never held a contested election. The fifteen “never contested” districts had a total population of 1,002,581, representing 33% of Arkansas’ total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 29% (8 out of 28).

Out of the thirty-seven candidates running for prosecuting attorney, sixteen were incumbents and only two of those incumbents faced challengers.

– California –

California elects one district attorney per county in nonpartisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. There are fifty-eight counties in the state.

Because California holds nonpartisan elections, if a candidate receives more than 50% of the vote in a primary election, the candidate is declared elected. If no primary election candidate receives more than 50% of the vote, the two candidates who received the most votes in the primary election face off in the general election.

Regular county elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022. Los Angeles and San Francisco are on a different cycle; they held elections in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

The overall rate of contested elections was 42% (74 out of 175).

Six counties always held contested elections, and eighteen counties never held a contested election. The eighteen “never contested” counties had a total population of 3,077,592, representing 8% of California’s total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 37% (22 out of 60).

Out of the 104 candidates running for district attorney, forty-eight were incumbents and only seventeen of those incumbents faced challengers.

²¹ This was a special election following the recall of former District Attorney, Chesa Boudin. District Attorneys in San Francisco are elected through rank choice voting (RCV). In RCV, if no candidate receives a majority of the vote, votes for the least popular candidate(s) are redistributed until redistributed votes provide a majority to one candidate. The vote share for each candidate immediately following the election is provided in column three. After two rounds of rank choice elimination, the votes of Veronese and Chenier were transferred to Jenkins and Hamasaki. These transfers left Jenkins with 53.68% of the vote (142,412 votes) and Hamasaki with 46.32% of the vote (122,906 votes), as provided in column four. Jenkins was declared the winner.

²² In this election, the first and only round of rank choice voting occurred in the general election.

– Colorado –

Colorado elects one district attorney per district in partisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. Districts are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to seven counties. There were twenty-two districts in the 2016 and 2020 election cycles. District 18 split into two separate districts, adding a twenty-third district in the 2024 election cycle.

2014–

The overall rate of contested elections was 39% (27 out of 69).

Regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

One district always held contested elections, and five districts never held contested elections. The five “never contested” districts had a total population of 664,424, representing 11% of Colorado’s total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 39% (18 out of 46).

Out of the seventy candidates running for district attorney, twenty-five were incumbents and only five of those incumbents faced challengers. One additional incumbent withdrew before the general election and is not included in these totals.

– Connecticut –

Connecticut does not hold elections for local prosecutors. The local prosecutors in Connecticut are appointed by a state commission.

– Delaware –

Delaware does not hold elections for local prosecutors. The local prosecutors in Delaware are appointed by a state commission.

– Florida –

Florida elects one state attorney per judicial circuit in partisan elections. Once elected, state attorneys served four-year terms. Judicial circuits are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to seven counties. There are twenty judicial circuits. Judicial circuit boundaries remained the same between 2014 and 2024.

A candidate does not appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election. Depending on the jurisdiction, an uncontested candidate may not necessarily appear on the ballot in a general election.

Regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024 except for District 20, which held elections in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

The overall rate of contested elections was 37% (22 out of 60).

Three judicial circuits always held contested elections, and six districts never held a contested election. The six “never contested” districts had a total population of 6,210,045, representing 29% of Florida’s total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 36% (14 out of 39).

Out of the seventy-two candidates running for district attorney, twenty-nine were incumbents and only nine of those incumbents faced challengers.

– Georgia –

Georgia elects one district attorney per judicial district in partisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. Judicial districts are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to seven counties. There were forty-nine districts in election cycles between 2014 and 2020. An additional district was added in the 2022 election cycle and two additional districts were added in the 2024 election cycle, resulting in a total of fifty-two districts.

2014–

The overall rate of contested elections was 27% (41 out of 153).

Most regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024 with a few occurring in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

No judicial district always held contested elections, and twenty-three districts never held a contested election. The twenty-three “never contested” districts had a total population of 3,970,450, representing 34% of Georgia’s total population (excluding the newly created district of West Georgia).

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 32% (30 out of 94).

Out of the 133 candidates running for district attorney, eighty-one were incumbents and twenty-five of those incumbents faced challengers.

³⁹ The results of the November 3, 2020, general election are listed in column three and the results of the December 1, 2020, state runoff are listed in column four. This election proceeded following litigation over a state law permitting prosecutor elections to be cancelled if, following a vacancy, the governor appointed a district attorney within six months of an election. In this district, the previous incumbent resigned prior to the end of their term and Governor Kemp waited to appoint a successor until the period within six months of the next election. Candidate Gonzalez sued and the state law was declared unconstitutional, allowing this election to proceed.

– Hawaii –

Hawaii elects one nonpartisan prosecuting attorney in three of its five counties: Hawaii, Honolulu, and Kauai. Once elected, prosecuting attorneys serve four-year terms. Hawaii has two other counties: Maui and Kalawao. The Maui government appoints a prosecuting attorney, rather than electing the office, and Kalawao does not have a prosecuting attorney.

If a candidate receives a majority of the vote share in the primary election, they are declared elected without a general election. If no candidate receives a majority, the two candidates with the most votes advance to the general election. Local governments decide whether to hold an election if it is uncontested.

Regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

The overall rate of contested elections was 60% (6 out of 10).

No county always held contested elections, and no county never held contested elections.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 43% (3 out of 7).

Out of the sixteen candidates running for prosecuting attorney, four were incumbents and none of those incumbents faced challengers.

– Idaho –

Idaho elects one prosecuting attorney per county in partisan elections. Once elected, prosecuting attorneys serve four-year terms. There are forty-four counties in the state.

2014–

The overall rate of contested elections was 20% (27 out of 136).

Regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

One county always held contested elections, and twenty-six counties never held a contested election. The twenty-six “never contested” districts had a total population of 638,266, representing 35% of Idaho’s total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 16% (15 out of 92).

Out of the 109 candidates running for district attorney, seventy-two were incumbents and eight of those incumbents faced challengers.

– Illinois –

Illinois elects one state’s attorney per county in partisan elections. Once elected, state’s attorneys serve four-year terms. There are 102 counties in the state.

A candidate may not necessarily appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election.

2014–
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 35% (113 out of 320).

Regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

Five counties always held contested elections, and twenty-five districts never held a contested election. The twenty-five “never contested” districts had a total population of 2,470,112, representing 20% of Illinois’ total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 30% (62 out of 210).

Out of the 299 candidates running for state’s attorney, 167 were incumbents and thirty-eight of those incumbents faced challengers. Two additional incumbents withdrew from their races prior to facing contested general elections.

– Indiana –

Indiana elects one prosecuting attorney per prosecutorial district in partisan elections. Once elected, prosecuting attorneys serve four-year terms. Prosecutorial districts are each comprised of a single county except for District 7, which is comprised of Dearborn and Ohio counties. There are ninety-one districts. District boundaries remained the same between 2014 and 2024.

A candidate may not necessarily appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election.

2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 30% (83 out of 273).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

Nine districts always held contested elections, and thirty-five districts never held a contested election. The thirty-five “never contested” districts had a total population of 2,051,427, representing 30% of Indiana’s total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 22% (20 out of 91).

Out of the 113 candidates running for prosecuting attorney, seventy-four were incumbents and fourteen of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Iowa -

Iowa elects one county attorney per county in partisan elections. Once elected, prosecuting attorneys serve four-year terms. There are ninety-nine counties. Iowa permits counties to share elected county attorneys by agreement and one such agreement existed in Fremont and Mills in 2018.

2014-

The overall rate of contested elections was 16% (48 out of 300).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

No county always held contested elections, and sixty-one counties never held a contested election. The sixty-one “never contested” counties had a total population of 1,385,212, representing 43% of Iowa’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 14% (14 out of 103).

Out of the 123 candidates running for county attorney, ninety-three were incumbents and ten of those incumbents faced challengers.

– Kansas –

Kansas elects 105 local prosecutors in partisan elections, each presiding over a single county. Once elected, prosecutors serve four-year terms. Most local prosecutors are called county attorneys. Six prosecutors are called district attorneys; regardless of their title, Kansas prosecutors are elected in single-county districts. The boundaries of the six districts remained the same between 2014 and 2020.

2014–

The overall rate of contested elections was 16% (51 out of 325).

Regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

Three counties always held contested elections, and seventy counties never held a contested election. The sixty-nine “never contested” counties had a total population of 1,451,432, representing 49% of Kansas’ total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 15% (33 out of 219).

Out of the 263 candidates running for local prosecutor, 174 were incumbents and nineteen of those incumbents faced challengers.

– Kentucky –

Kentucky elects one commonwealth attorney per judicial circuit in partisan elections. Once elected, commonwealth attorneys serve six-year terms. Judicial circuits are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to four counties. There are fifty-seven judicial circuits in the state. In 2022, one county switched circuits, impacting the boundaries of circuits eight and thirty-eight.

A candidate does not appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election.

2014–
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 25% (45 out of 179).

Regular elections occurred in 2012, 2018, and 2024.

No judicial circuit always held contested elections, and twenty-two circuits never held a contested election. The twenty-two “never contested” districts had a total population of 4,505,836, representing 37% of Kentucky’s total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 25% (16 out of 65).

Out of the eighty-six candidates running for commonwealth attorney, forty-eight were incumbents and ten of those incumbents faced challengers. One incumbent withdrew before a contested general election and is not included in contestation totals.

- Louisiana -

Louisiana elects one district attorney per district in nonpartisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve six-year terms. Districts are organized as multiple-parish districts comprised of up to three parishes. There are forty-three districts in the state. District boundaries remained consistent between 2014 and 2024.

A candidate does not appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary or general election. All candidates, regardless of party affiliation, may appear in primary or general elections.

2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 38% (34 out of 89).

Regular elections occurred in 2014 and 2020.

Seven districts always held contested elections, but eighteen districts never held a contested election. The eighteen “never contested” districts had a total population of 1,817,964, representing 37% of Louisiana’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 40% (17 out of 43).

Out of the sixty-five candidates running for district attorney, thirty-two were incumbents and eleven of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Minnesota -

Minnesota elects one county attorney per county in nonpartisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. There are eighty-seven counties in the state.

Minnesota does not hold a primary election in a race with fewer than three candidates. If there are fewer than three candidates, all candidates appear in the general election. If there are three or more candidates in the primary election, the top two candidates advance to the general election.

The overall rate of contested elections was 16% (43 out of 261).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

One county always held contested elections, and fifty-four counties never held a contested election. The fifty-four “never contested” counties had a total population of 1,830,934, representing 32% of Minnesota’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 15% (13 out of 87).

Out of the 108 candidates running for county attorney, sixty-six were incumbents and ten of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Mississippi -

Mississippi elects one district attorney per district in partisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. Districts are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to seven counties. There were twenty-two districts in the state between 2014 and 2022. In 2022, DeSoto County became the twenty-third district.

2014–

The overall rate of contested elections was 27% (18 out of 67).

Regular elections occurred in 2015, 2019, and 2023.

One district always held contested elections, and ten districts never held a contested election. The ten “never contested” districts had a total population of 1,419,969, representing 51% of Mississippi’s total population, excluding DeSoto County.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 30% (7 out of 23).

Out of the thirty-two candidates running for district attorney, sixteen were incumbents and four of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Missouri -

Missouri elects one prosecuting attorney per county in partisan elections, except for Mercer County, which appoints a prosecuting attorney in lieu of an election. The City of St. Louis also elects its own prosecuting attorney. Once elected, prosecuting attorneys serve four-year terms. There are 114 counties in the state.

2014-

The overall rate of contested elections was 25% (87 out of 342).

Most regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022, except for Jackson and St. Louis City, which held elections in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

Four counties always held contested elections, and fifty-four counties never held a contested election. The fifty-four “never contested” counties had a total population of 2,163,742, representing 35% of Missouri’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 21% (24 out of 116).

Out of the 141 candidates running for prosecuting attorney, eighty-eight were incumbents and eighteen of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Montana -

Most counties in Montana elect one county attorney per county. Once elected, county attorneys serve four-year terms. Counties are permitted to share a county attorney by agreement. Golden Valley and Mussellshell counties are the only two counties where such an agreement exists. There are fifty-six counties in the state.

Counties may choose whether to hold partisan or nonpartisan elections if fewer than three candidates file for county attorney.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 16% (26 out of 161).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022, except for Deer Lodge and Silver Bow, which held elections in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

No county always held contested elections, and thirty-three counties never held a contested election. The thirty-three “never contested” districts had a total population of 629,346, representing 58% of Montana’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 16% (9 out of 57).

Out of the sixty-seven candidates running for district attorney, forty-six were incumbents and four of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Nebraska -

Nebraska elects one county attorney per county in partisan elections. Once elected, county attorneys serve four-year terms. There are ninety-three counties in the state.

A candidate may not necessarily appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 8% (23 out of 279).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

No county always held contested elections, and seventy-four counties never held a contested election. The seventy-four "never contested" counties had a total population of 907,629, representing 46% of Nebraska's total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 10% (9 out of 93).

Out of the 104 candidates running for county attorney, seventy-six were incumbents and eight of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Nevada -

Nevada elects one district attorney in each of its sixteen counties and one additional district attorney in Carson City. Elections are partisan. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms.

A candidate may not necessarily appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 29% (15 out of 51).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

Two districts always held contested elections, and eight districts never held a contested election. The eight “never contested” districts had a total population of 628,986, representing 20% of Nevada’s total population.

2020-
2024

The rate of contested elections was 29% (5 out of 17).

Out of the twenty-eight candidates running for district attorney, sixteen were incumbents and five of those incumbents faced challengers.

-North Carolina-

North Carolina elects one district attorney per prosecutorial district in partisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. Prosecutorial districts are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to seven counties. In 2014, there were forty-four prosecutorial districts in the state. Beginning with the 2018 election, district boundaries changed significantly, reducing the number of districts to forty-two.

A candidate does not appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 37% (47 out of 127).

Most regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

Five districts always held contested elections, and fourteen districts never held a contested election. The fourteen “never contested” districts (excluding Scotland and Stanly counties) had a total population of 2,497,940, representing 24% of North Carolina’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 38% (17 out of 45).

Out of the sixty-six candidates running for district attorney, thirty-nine were incumbents and twelve of those incumbents faced challengers.

- North Dakota -

North Dakota elects one state's attorney per county in nonpartisan elections except for Golden Valley and Steele counties, which appoint their state's attorney. Once elected, state's attorneys serve four-year terms. There are fifty-three counties in the state.

In a contested primary election, the two candidates receiving the most votes move on to the general election.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 14% (20 out of 140).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

No county always held contested elections, and thirty-five counties never held a contested election. The thirty-five "never contested" counties had a total population of 228,800, representing 23% of North Dakota's total population (figures exclude Golden Valley and Steele).

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 9% (5 out of 53).

Out of the fifty-six candidates running for state's attorney, forty-four were incumbents and four of those incumbents faced challengers.

-Ohio-

Ohio elects one prosecuting attorney per county in partisan elections. Once elected, prosecuting attorneys serve four-year terms. There are eighty-eight counties in the state.

2014–
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 25% (66 out of 266).

Regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

Eight counties always held contested elections, and forty-six counties never held a contested election. The forty-six “never contested” counties had a total population of 4,764,774, representing 40% of Ohio’s total population.

2020–

The rate of contested elections was 21% (37 out of 176).

Out of the 226 candidates running for prosecuting attorney, 154 were incumbents and twenty-six of those incumbents faced challengers.

-Oklahoma-

Oklahoma elects one district attorney per district in partisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. Districts are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to five counties. There are twenty-seven districts in the state. District boundaries remained the same between 2014 and 2024.

A candidate may not necessarily appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election or an uncontested general election.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 27% (22 out of 81).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

No district always held contested elections, and ten districts never held a contested election. The ten “never contested” districts had a total population of 841,254, representing 21% of Oklahoma’s total population.

2020-
2024

The rate of contested elections was 19% (5 out of 27).

Out of the thirty-seven candidates running for district attorney, twenty-two were incumbents and four of those incumbents faced challengers.

-Oregon-

Oregon elects one district attorney per county in nonpartisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. There are thirty-six counties in the state.

Oregon does not hold primary elections if fewer than three candidates file for district attorney. If a primary is held, and if one candidate receives a majority of votes cast, then only that candidate appears on the general election ballot. If no primary candidate receives a majority of the vote in the primary, the two candidates who receive the highest number of votes proceed to the general election.

2024

About half of regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022, while the other half occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

The overall rate of contested elections was 23% (25 out of 75).

Two counties always held contested elections, but twenty counties never held a contested election. The twenty “never contested” counties had a total population of 1,388,308, representing 33% of Oregon’s total population.

2020-
2024

The rate of contested elections was 25% (15 out of 59).

Out of the seventy-five candidates running for district attorney, forty-four were incumbents and eight of those incumbents faced challengers.

-Pennsylvania-

Pennsylvania elects one district attorney per county in partisan elections. The City of Philadelphia also elects its own district attorney. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. There are sixty-seven counties in the state.

2014-

The overall rate of contested elections was 42% (76 out of 183).

Most regular elections occurred in 2015, 2019, and 2023. The remaining eighteen elections occurred in 2017 and 2021.

Six counties and Philadelphia always held contested elections, and nineteen counties never held a contested election. The nineteen “never contested” counties had a total population of 2,269,684, representing 17% of Pennsylvania’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 31% (21 out of 67).

Out of the ninety-two candidates running for district attorney, fifty-six were incumbents and sixteen of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Rhode Island -

The state of Rhode Island does not select local prosecutors. All criminal cases are handled by the state Attorney General, who is elected.

- South Carolina -

South Carolina elects one solicitor per district in partisan elections. Once elected, solicitors serve four-year terms. Districts are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to five counties. There are sixteen districts in the state. District boundaries remained the same between 2014 and 2024.

A candidate does not appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 27% (13 out of 48).

Regular elections did not occur in each district in the same years but each district held three elections between 2014 and 2024.

No district always held contested elections, and five districts never held a contested election. The five “never contested” districts had a total population of 1,348,049, representing 26% of South Carolina’s total population.

2020-

Out of the thirty-five candidates running for solicitor, twenty-three were incumbents and four of those incumbents faced challengers.

The rate of contested elections was 27% (7 out of 26).

- South Dakota -

South Dakota elects one state's attorney per county in partisan elections. Once elected, state's attorneys serve four-year terms. Fall River and Oglala Lakota share a state's attorney. There are sixty-six counties in the state.

A candidate does not appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election or an uncontested general election.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 12% (22 out of 182).

Regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

No county always held contested elections, and forty-four counties never held a contested election. The forty-four "never contested" counties had a total population of 526,088, representing 59% of South Dakota's total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 7% (10 out of 136).

Out of the 148 candidates running for state's attorney, 100 were incumbents and six of those incumbents faced challengers. There were also three candidates with unknown incumbency statuses.

- Tennessee -

Tennessee elects one commonwealth attorney per judicial district in partisan elections. Once elected, commonwealth attorneys serve eight-year terms. Districts are organized as multiple-county districts comprised of up to seven counties. There were thirty-one judicial districts in the 2014 election. In 2022, District 21 was split into two districts, for a total of thirty-two districts.

2014-

The overall rate of contested elections was 42% (28 out of 67).

Regular elections occurred in 2014 and 2022.

Seven districts always held contested elections, and twelve districts never held a contested election. The twelve “never contested” districts had a total population of 1,707,480, representing 25% of Tennessee’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 41% (13 out of 32).

Out of the fifty-one candidates running for commonwealth attorney, twenty-eight were incumbents and twelve of those incumbents faced challengers.

-Texas-

Texas elects one partisan prosecutor in over 160 jurisdictions. Some of these prosecutors are called criminal district attorneys, some are called district attorneys, and others are called county attorneys. Once elected, prosecutors serve four-year terms. Jurisdictions are organized as both multiple-county districts and single-county districts and jurisdictional boundaries routinely change. In regular elections occurring in 2014, 2018, and 2022, there were forty-seven, fifty, and forty-nine jurisdictions, respectively. In regular elections occurring in 2016, 2020, and 2024, there were 113, 116, and 117 jurisdictions, respectively.

Local governments decide whether to hold elections in the event of uncontested elections.

2014-
2024

Regular elections did not occur in each jurisdiction in the same year but each jurisdiction held three elections between 2014 and 2024.

The overall rate of contested elections was 29% (146 out of 499).

Fifteen jurisdictions always held contested elections, and seventy-five districts never held a contested election. The seventy-five “never contested” districts had a total population of 4,546,454, representing 15% of Texas’ total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 25% (72 out of 286).

Out of the 388 candidates running for prosecutor, 239 were incumbents and fifty-one of those incumbents faced challengers.

²⁵² Following a vacancy, the governor must appoint a new district attorney in most instances. If the vacancy occurs more than seventy-four days before a general election, a new district attorney would be elected in the next general election and the appointment would expire following the election. TEX. CONST. art. IV, § 12; TEX. ELEC. CODE ANN. § 202.002 (West).

²⁵³ Stainton was appointed as the district attorney by the governor in 2021, making him the incumbent in the 2022 special election.

²⁵⁴ Elections results could not be obtained. According to local officials, Deski was uncontested in this election. Prior to this election, Burleson County was part of District 21, which is served by a district attorney. Due to legislative changes effective in 2019, Burleson separated from District 21, and the duties of the district attorney were conferred upon the county attorney. Deski, originally elected as the county attorney in 2016, was the incumbent in 2020 election.

- Utah -

Utah elects one county attorney per county in partisan elections. Once elected, county attorneys serve four-year terms. There are twenty-nine counties in the state.

A candidate may not necessarily appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election.

2014–
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 20% (18 out of 91).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

One county always held contested elections, and fifteen counties never held a contested election. The fifteen “never contested” counties had a total population of 887,032, representing 27% of Utah’s total population.

2020–
2024

The rate of contested elections was 13% (4 out of 32).

Out of the thirty-seven candidates running for county attorney, twenty-five were incumbents and four of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Virginia -

Virginia elects one commonwealth's attorney in 120 jurisdictions in partisan elections. Once elected, commonwealth's attorneys serve four-year terms. Eighty-two jurisdictions are organized as single-county districts. Virginia also contains twenty-five independent municipalities, which are empowered to elect a commonwealth's attorney. The Constitution of Virginia permits counties and municipalities to share a commonwealth's attorney and there are currently thirteen of these arrangements.

A candidate does not appear on the ballot in an uncontested primary election.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 28% (102 out of 361).

Most regular elections occurred in 2015, 2019, and 2023.

Eight jurisdictions always held contested elections, and forty-nine jurisdictions never held a contested election. The forty-nine "never contested" jurisdictions had a total population of 2,397,814, representing 28% of Virginia's total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 23% (31 out of 134).

Out of the 169 candidates running for district attorney, 100 were incumbents and nineteen of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Washington -

Washington elects one prosecuting attorney per county in partisan elections. Once elected, prosecuting attorneys serve four-year terms. There are thirty-nine counties in the state.

The two candidates with the most votes in the primary election advance to the general election regardless of party affiliation, so long as each candidate receives more than one percent of the vote.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 28% (33 out of 118).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

One county always held contested elections, and thirteen counties never held a contested election. The thirteen “never contested” counties had a total population of 731,386, representing 9% of Washington’s total population.

2020-
2024

The rate of contested elections was 18% (7 out of 39).

Out of the fifty candidates running for prosecuting attorney, thirty-three were incumbents and two of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Wisconsin -

Wisconsin elects one district attorney per county in partisan elections except for Menominee and Shawano counties, which share a district attorney. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. There are seventy-two counties in the state.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 15% (33 out of 214).

Regular elections occurred in 2016, 2020, and 2024.

No county always held contested elections, and forty-one counties never held a contested election. The forty-one “never contested” counties had a total population of 2,563,574, representing 43% of Wisconsin’s total population.

2020-

The rate of contested elections was 8% (11 out of 142).

Out of the 153 candidates running for district attorney, 129 were incumbents and seven of those incumbents faced challengers.

- Wyoming -

Wyoming elects one district attorney per county in partisan elections. Once elected, district attorneys serve four-year terms. There are twenty-three counties in the state.

2014-
2024

The overall rate of contested elections was 32% (22 out of 69).

Regular elections occurred in 2014, 2018, and 2022.

One judicial district always held contested elections, and six districts never held a contested election. The six “never contested” districts had a total population of 146,266, representing 25% of Wyoming’s total population.

2020-
2024

The rate of contested elections was 17% (4 out of 23).

Out of the twenty-eight candidates running for district attorney, twenty were incumbents and three of those incumbents faced challengers.
